Apple Valley, Minnesota

Challenge.

Grace Lutheran Church had not only out-grown the antiquated sound system it installed in its dynamic worship space in 1986; it required a powerful video system as well.

Meet and Listen.

Audio Logic Systems - the recognized connoisseur of audio, video and lighting designs - conferred many times with church representatives to discuss renovations that would meet a variety of worship styles. Audio Logic Systems also carefully examined the church itself, recognizing a unique array of challenges - a high ceiling over permanent seating that demanded special rigging and lift equipment, unfortunate beam placement, a choir area located practically in the audience, a performance space with no existing cable conduit and troublesome sound booth placement.

Design.

Working intimately with the church's project committee and various video and audio manufacturers, Audio Logic Systems was able to devise an AV scheme that met all of Grace Lutheran's goals while remaining faithful to its budget. It installed the demanding system while working around the church's many planned weekly activities.

Training and Support.

Training was a key component of the installation. It required re-educating staff, moving it from an antiquated vocal range reinforcement audio system with a vintage rotary knob console to a highly-sophisticated full range audio system with a fully integrated digital console. In addition to instructing church personnel on techniques for maximizing the new system, Audio Logic Systems also pledged to support the church staff as it familiarizes itself with all the advanced equipment and the capabilities it provides them.

Results.

The following letter speaks for itself:

"I am writing to offer words of appreciation and commendation for the outstanding work that (Audio Logic Systems) did on the installation of our new sound system at Grace Lutheran Church in Apple Valley. We have begun using the system on Sundays and find it to be far beyond our expectations. The quality of the sound, as well as the complete coverage, is superb. They had many challenges to work around...they communicated so well with our people and nothing became problematic. We will continue to make use of what ALS offers by way of training and truly appreciate your ongoing support."
